If you've seen any of these children, please call the NCMEC hotline at 1-800-THE-LOST.

Every day, more than 2,000 children are reported missing in America. Working closely with law enforcement across the country, the National Center for Missing & Exploited Children (NCMEC) has achieved substantial success in finding our children. Canon U.S.A. is proud to join this effort by donating digital cameras, printers and scanners to help authorities quickly disseminate photos and information about missing children. Look at these children. If you recognize any of them, please call the NCMEC hotline. We urge you to then take photos of your children just in case of an emergency. Recent photos are the best way to help find missing children. For more information about what you can do, visit NCMEC at www.missingkids.com.

An updated picture is your most important tool when searching for a missing child, and Canon U.S.A. is disseminating photos of missing children across the country as part of its Canon4Kids effort to help find them. To help in this effort, you can download, print and distribute this page by going to www.usa.canon.com/canon4kids.
